DIVERSE PRESERVATION PROJECTS RECOGNIZED AT 42ND ANNUAL HONOR AWARDS CEREMONY & CELEBRATION ON MAY 27
Educators Honored with Frank Haines Award for Extensive Effort to Illuminate Hawaiʻi’s World War II Internment History

Historic Hawaiʻi Foundation will honor exemplary achievements in the field of historic preservation at a ceremony and celebration at the Pōmaikaʻi Ballrooms in Honolulu on May 27, 2016 at 5:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. This special event will include dinner, presentation of the Honor Awards, and silent auction of Hawaiian art and memorabilia.

The annual Preservation Honor Awards offer the local community an opportunity to share, recognize and applaud excellence in historic preservation in the Hawaiian Islands. Presented annually since 1975, the awards bring together architects, contractors, planners, developers, historians, archaeologists, landowners and others who contribute to preservation projects.

The awards ceremony will include presentation of the 8th Annual Frank Haines Award to educators Jane Kurahara and Betsy Young.
Jane Kurahara and Betsy Young are volunteers with the Japanese Cultural Center of Hawai‘i, working on the effort to identify, document, evaluate and plan for the preservation of the World War II-era confinement camp site in Honouliuli, O‘ahu. Their efforts reached fruition in February 2015 when President Barack Obama designated the Honouliuli National Monument, ensuring its future preservation.

Kurahara has co-chaired the Hawai‘i Confinement Sites Committee since its inception in 2005. She has taken the lead on the planning, coordination, and discourse on outreach presentations, archaeological surveys, spearheaded acquisition of key archival collection manuscripts and photographs relating to internment, was key in creating the original and traveling “Dark Clouds Over Paradise” exhibits, and the development of the Hawai‘i internment curriculum of materials being taught in schools today. She is a retired school librarian and dedicates much of her free time in the Resource Center. She was the co-manager of the Resource Center as a volunteer from 2001 to 2006.

Young is an award-winning public school teacher, social studies curriculum specialist and school librarian, who has kept education as her main focus by helping to develop curriculum on Japanese American internment in Hawai‘i being taught in our schools today. She has conducted countless outreach presentations to community groups and schools, and chaired and coordinated the successful Day of Remembrance on February 21, 2010 which highlighted the Honouliuli internment camp. She also co-managed the Resource Center as a volunteer from 2001-2006.

The Haines Award was established in 2009 and named for master architect Frank Haines, FAIA. It is presented to individuals who have demonstrated sustained and outstanding achievements in the areas of preserving the significant historic and cultural places of Hawai‘i.

The Haines Award headlines the annual ceremony, which also includes Preservation Honor Awards in three categories:
